San Antonio, TX, October 19th, 2011 — One Source Networks (OSN) announced today that TMC, a global, integrated media company, has named OSN as a recipient of the 2011 INTERNET TELEPHONY Excellence Award presented by INTERNET TELEPHONY magazine for its Enterprise VoIP solutions.

One Source Networks employs VoIP technologies that provide mobility and enhance the efficiency and productivity of global organizations while leveraging public and private cloud-based infrastructure. The company's VoIP solutions, including SIP Trunking and Virtual PBX, enable businesses to deploy cost-effective and reliable voice solutions that work in conjunction with existing traditional telephony solutions. OSN's IP-based voice services offer advanced features and functionality, such as Interactive Voice Response (IVR) and advanced call routing, enabling full management capability from the cloud. By offering these services as cloud-based technologies, the solutions also provide the freedom of mobility and enhanced reliability.

"We are honored to have TMC recognize One Source Networks' VoIP solutions with the 2011 Internet Telephony Excellence Award," states Ernest Cunningham, President and CEO of One Source Networks. "Our platform is entirely SIP based and supports HD Voice, which in turn increases call quality up to five times over traditional PSTN lines. This technology, coupled with OSN's global reach enables companies to save money while increasing the productivity of their workforce."

OSN's VoIP service is delivered across its facilities-based network that is specifically engineered to support multimedia. The solution is guaranteed with an SLA, and is proactively monitored through the company's Managed Network Solutions (MNS), offering three levels of support based on a business' specific needs.

"One Source Networks is dedicated to advancing IP Communications technology through its service offerings and commitment to meeting its customers' needs," comments Rich Tehrani, CEO of TMC. "The INTERNET TELEPHONY Excellence Award highlights companies, such as One Source Networks, who are actively defining the direction of the industry. OSN's Enterprise VOIP is a winning solution with tangible benefits to IP communications. Customers of One Source Networks are pleased with the services and this award is a testament of their support."

The 2011 INTERNET TELEPHONY Excellence Award winners are published in the October 2011 issue of INTERNET TELEPHONY magazine, www.itmag.com.
